RMA Policies and Procedures

RMA numbers can only be granted within 21 days of invoicing. Therefore, please fill out the required Return Request Form as soon as possible.

All RMA’s are subject to individual manufacturer’s policies and handled on a case-by-case basis. Every effort will be made to appeal for exceptions on the customer’s behalf.

RMA# expires 10 days from date of issuance. Once your RMA number is issued to avoid rejection please do not delay return of the product.

DO NOT write RMA numbers directly on product boxes. Writing should be on removable labels, wrapping, or an additional shipping box around the original product box.

Serial numbers are required for all CPU’s, monitors, and printers – and other peripheral hardware. Whenever possible, or specifically listed on an invoice, provide serial numbers.

A product should be categorized as incomplete under any of the following conditions:

- Manufacturer’s packing materials internal to the product box are missing:
- Manuals, instructions, registration cards, or other enclosed documents are missing:
- License agreements/certificates are missing:
- The original manufacturer’s box is missing:
- Cables and/or any accessory/peripheral part are missing.

Return completed forms to the attention of your sales representative.

Credits cannot be issued until returned products are received by Derive Technologies.

Credits must be issued at current prices.

Returned products should be shipped (via a traceable carrier).
